SCIENCE

LIFE SCIENCE

GENERAL SCIENCE

CLASSIFYING: JUGGLING SHAPES, SIZES, COLORS, TEXTURES

Grade Level: K-P

A group of jugglers shows youngsters that objects have different characteristics such as shape, color, size, and texture, and can be grouped according to their properties.

SKU: 3688-DVD or 3688-VHS
Length: 13 minutes
Copyright: 1981

EXPLORING THE LIVING WORLD

CLASSIFYING: FURNACE IN THE SKY

Grade Level: J-H

This video shines light on a hot topic: the importance of replacing our finite supply of fossil fuels with the seemingly inexhaustible energy of the sun.

SKU: 3961-DVD or 3961-VHS
Length: 21 minutes
Copyright: 1985

CLASSIFYING LIVING THINGS

Grade Level: J-H-C

This program uses lively animation to bring three great theorists—Aristotle, Linnaeus, and Darwin—back to life to discuss taxonomy, or systematics, the science of biological classification. Consultants: William V. Mayer, President Emeritus, Biological Sciences Curriculum Studies; Robert Deem, Science Coordinator, Elgin School District, Elgin, Illinois.

SKU: 3998-DVD or 3998-VHS
Length: 21 minutes
Copyright: 1985

MEMBRANES AND TRANSPORT

Grade Level: J-H

Concentrating on how membrane systems work, this program looks at the cell's ability to transport substances selectively into, out of, and around itself.

SKU: 4785-DVD or 4785-VHS
Length: 24 minutes
Copyright: 1991

THE BRAIN (A VIDEO WORKBOOK)

Grade Level: C-A

This video takes you on a tour of the amazing structure of the brain. You circle it, descend into it, explore its various levels, and discover the functions of all of its key structures.

Relying on spectacular animation and model work, this video workbook serves as an intensive study of brain physiology, a perfect tool for use in the classroom or the laboratory.

SKU: 5172-DVD or 5172-VHS
Length: 50 minutes
Copyright: 1993

CELLS, GENETICS, & EVOLUTION

GENETIC FINGERPRINTING

Grade Level: J-H

Everyone, with the exception of identical twins, has a unique genetic fingerprint. This absorbing program shows lab techniques used in genetic fingerprinting and presents real-life applications of these techniques. Viewers learn how genetic fingerprinting of blood and semen samples from the scene of a crime can help the law identify and convict the guilty party.

SKU: 5068-DVD or 5068-VHS
Length: 20 minutes
Copyright: 1992

MEIOSIS (2ND EDITION)

Grade Level: J-H

This program takes the viewer up close to illustrate the complex process of meiosis. The role of meiosis in sexual reproduction in both plants and animals is highlighted. Consultant: William V. Mayer, Director, Biological Sciences Curriculum Study.

SKU: 3669-DVD or 3669-VHS
Length: 15 minutes
Copyright: 1980

MITOSIS (2ND EDITION)

Grade Level: J-H

Using microphotography, this program shows how the basic process of mitosis takes place in plants and animals.

Explanations of chromosome structure are highlighted. Consultant: William V. Mayer, Director, Biological Sciences Curriculum Study.

SKU: 3668-DVD or 3668-VHS
Length: 14 minutes

PLANTS

PLANT DIVERSITY

Grade Level: j-H-C

The evolution of plant life is the story of a journey from the water to the land. In conquering new habitats, plants have adapted in order to carry out the functions of life: nutrition, respiration, and reproduction. Plant Diversity examines the different ways in which plants have become suited to their environments. Collaborator: Philip McCrea, Science Department, New Trier High School, Winnetka, Illinois.

SKU: 5277-DVD or 5277-VHS
Length: 20 minutes
Copyright: 1995

PLANT PHYSIOLOGY

Grade Level: J-H-C

To grow, plants need a regular supply of materials from the surrounding environment. As viewers will learn from Plant Physiology, roots and leaves play an essential role in transporting the materials needed to survive, such as carbon dioxide, water, and mineral salts. This informative program also explains the process of photosynthesis. Collaborator: Philip McCrea, Science Department, New Trier High School, Winnetka, Illinois.

SKU: 5278-DVD or 5278-VHS

Length: 20 minutes

Copyright: 1995

PHOTOSYNTHESIS

Grade Level: J-H-C

Examine the chemical changes involved in the process of photosynthesis, and how modern science is developing that process to produce food and energy alternatives. Consultant: William V. Mayer, Director, Biological Sciences Curriculum Study.

SKU: 3689-DVD or 3689-VHS

Length: 20 minutes

Copyright: 1980

PLANT REPRODUCTION

Grade Level: J-H-C

The reproductive processes of plants are usually imperceptible to humans. This enlightening program looks at the many different reproductive strategies plants have evolved, explains why different strategies are needed in different types of environments, and depicts how insects aid in the reproduction of flowering plants. Collaborator: Philip McCrea, Science Department, New Trier High School, Winnetka, Illinois.

SKU: 5279-DVD or 5279-VHS

Length: 20 minutes

Copyright: 1995

HUMAN BEINGS

THE RESPIRATORY SYSTEM

Grade Level: J-H

This program shows how the body takes in oxygen and expels carbon dioxide. The program's conclusion shows viewers how smoking can devastate the respiratory system.

Consultant: William V. Mayer, Professor Emeritus of Biology, University of Colorado, President Emeritus, Biological Sciences Curriculum Study.

SKU: 4157-DVD or 4157-VHS

Length: 26 minutes

Copyright: 1986

BLOOD: THE MICROSCOPIC MIRACLE (2ND EDITION)

Grade Level: J-H

Viewers look at the parts of the blood and some of the many functions they serve—healing wounds, defending our bodies from infection, and transporting oxygen, food, and hormones to cells of the body.

Consultants: William V. Mayer, Director, Biological Sciences Curriculum Study; Dr. Richard Sasseti, Director of Blood Bank, Rush-Presbyterian-St. Luke's Medical Center, Chicago.

SKU: 3737-DVD or 3737-VHS

Length: 22 minutes

Copyright: 1983

THE ENDOCRINE SYSTEM (2ND EDITION)

Grade Level: J-H

This program provides data concerning the major endocrine glands and their hormones, and clarifies their contributions to growth, reproduction, metabolism, and homeostasis. Consultants: William V. Mayer, Director, Biological Sciences Curriculum Study; Richard C. Landau, M.D., Dept. of Endocrinology, Billings Hospital, University of Chicago.

SKU: 3654-DVD or 3654-VHS

Length: 20 minutes

WORK OF THE HEART (2ND EDITION)

Grade Level: J-H-C

Observe the constantly pumping power source of our circulatory system. Vivid animation illustrates the parts of the heart and how they relate to the work of the lungs, arteries, and veins. Collaborators: Dr. William V. Mayer, Professor Emeritus of Biology, University of Colorado, President Emeritus, Biological Sciences Curriculum Study; Philip McCrea, Department of Science, New Trier High School, Winnetka, Illinois.

SKU: 4264-DVD or 4264-VHS

Length: 21 minutes

Copyright: 1987

THE DIGESTIVE SYSTEM (2ND EDITION)

Grade Level: J-H

Using animation and photography, this program traces food through the digestive system, illustrating mechanical and enzymatic action and the regulation of the digestive process by hormones and nerves. Consultants: William V. Mayer, Director, Biological Sciences Curriculum Study; Dorice M. Czajka-Narins, Director, Clinical Nutrition, College of Health Sciences, Rush-Presbyterian-St. Luke's Medical Center, Chicago.

SKU: 3666-DVD or 3666-VHS

Length: 19 minutes

Copyright: 1980

THE HUMAN BRAIN (2ND EDITION)

Grade Level: J-H

The brain is unique in its ability to create, explore, and adapt. This program demonstrates the ways in which the brain functions and examines the findings of studies of brain disorders. Consultant: William V. Mayer, Director, Biological Sciences Curriculum Study.

SKU: 3789-DVD or 3789-VHS

Length: 24 minutes

Copyright: 1984

THE NERVOUS SYSTEM (3RD EDITION)

Grade Level: J-H

Animation and micrographs of nerve cells help viewers visualize how the nervous system controls and integrates specific bodily activities. The program also describes the effects of alcohol, drugs, and caffeine on the nervous system. Consultant: William V. Mayer, Director, Biological Sciences Curriculum Study.

SKU: 3667-DVD or 3667-VHS

Length: 17 minutes

Copyright: 1981

WORK OF THE KIDNEYS

Grade Level: J-H-c

This program illustrates the major structures of the kidneys, explains homeostasis—the maintenance of stable conditions within the body—and shows why the kidneys are crucial to this stability. Consultants: Stephen C. Jensik, M.D., Rush-Presbyterian-St. Luke's Medical Center; Robert Deem, Science Coordinator, Elgin School District, Elgin, Illinois.

SKU: 4418-DVD or 4418-VHS

Length: 23 minutes

Copyright: 1988

MUSCLES: THEIR STRUCTURE AND FUNCTION

Grade Level: J-H

Viewers learn about the three types of muscles and what each type does in this program that demonstrates how to develop endurance, flexibility, and cardiorespiratory fitness. Consultants: Phil McCrea, Biology Teacher, New Trier High School, Winnetka, Illinois; Dr. James Ashley, Director of Planning & Research, Indiana Community School District, South Bend, Indiana.

SKU: 4108-DVD or 4108-VHS

Length: 25 minutes

Copyright: 1986

MUSCLE: CHEMISTRY OF CONTRACTION

Grade Level: H-C

With the aid of an electron microscope and a tabletop model of muscle filaments, Dr. Georges R. Marechal demonstrates that actin and myosin proteins are the contractile elements of muscle. Collaborator: Georges R. Marechal, M.D., Dept. de Physiologie, Universite de Louvain, Louvain, Belgium. Educational Consultant: Wilfred Mommaerts, Ph.D., UCLA.

SKU: 2838-DVD or 2838-VHS

Length: 15 minutes

LOWER ORGANISMS & VIRUSES

BACTERIA (2ND EDITION)

Grade Level: H

Bacteria are among the most ancient, wide-spread, and adaptable of all life forms. This program explores the structure, reproduction, and life cycles of bacteria. Consultant: Wiltraud Pfeiffer, Ph.D., Dept. of Bacteriology, University of California, Davis.

SKU: 4396-DVD or 4396-VHS

Length: 19 minutes

Copyright: 1989

VIRUSES: WHAT THEY ARE AND HOW THEY WORK

Grade Level: J-H

Viewers discover how viruses can invade, alter, and destroy healthy cells. Researchers explain the viral life cycle, disease-producing viruses, and antigen-antibody reactions. Collaborator: James M. Hogle, Ph.D., Scripps Clinic and Research Institute, La Jolla, California.

SKU: 4261-DVD or 4261-VHS

Length: 18 minutes

Copyright: 1987

FORM, FUNCTION, AND ECOLOGY (2ND EDITION)

Grade Level: J-H

Using light electron microscopes, Dr. Jerome Paulin guides us through the Kingdom Protista, which includes the protozoa, the algae, and the slime molds. Collaborators: Dr. Jerome J. Paulin, Professor of Zoology, University of Georgia; Dr. William V. Mayer, Director, Biological Sciences Curriculum Study.

SKU: 3919-DVD or 3919-VHS

Length: 23 minutes

Copyright: 1985

ANIMALS

ANIMALS IN AUTUMN AND WINTER (2ND EDITION)

Grade Level: p-I

Investigating how animals prepare for winter, this program explores migration, hibernation, food storage, and adaptation. Produced by Wolfgang Bayer Productions. Consultant: William V. Mayer, Director, Biological Sciences Curriculum Study.

SKU: 3732-DVD or 3732-VHS

Length: 11 minutes

Copyright: 1982

ANIMALS IN SPRING AND SUMMER (2ND EDITION)

Grade Level: P-I

Close-up sequences filmed in the natural wilderness reveal how animals adapt to the yearly cycles of nature that govern their patterns of mating, breeding, and migrating. Produced by Wolfgang Bayer Productions.

SKU: 3729-DVD or 3729-VHS

Length: 13 minutes

PHYSICAL SCIENCE

GEOLOGY & NATURAL RESOURCES

THE ROCK CYCLE

Grade Level: J-H-C-A

Examining the importance of the rock cycle as a natural process and a key factor in geologic change, this program identifies sedimentary, igneous, and metamorphic rock classifications. Consultant: Dr. Robert Boyer, Dean of the College of Natural Sciences, University of Texas, Austin. In cooperation with the American Geological Institute, William H. Matthews III, Director of Education.

SKU: 3717-DVD or 3717-VHS

Length: 22 minutes

Copyright: 1982

THE WATER CYCLE (2ND EDITION)

Grade Level: J-H

Evaporation, condensation, and the effects of the water cycle on the climate and the land are closely examined. Produced in cooperation with the American Geological Institute, William H. Matthews III, Director of Education.

SKU: 3637-DVD or 3637-VHS

Length: 14 minutes

Copyright: 1980

CONTINENTAL DRIFT: THE THEORY OF PLATE TECTONICS

Grade Level: J-H-C-A

This program presents an exploration of continental drift and its effect on landmasses. Maps, footage, and diagrams help the viewer visualize rifting, faulting, volcanism, earthquakes, and ridge formations. Produced in cooperation with the American Geological Institute, William H. Matthews III, Director of Education. Consultant: Robert E. Boyer, Ph.D., University of Texas, Austin.

SKU: 3652-DVD or 3652-VHS

Length: 22 minutes

Copyright: 1980

METEOROLOGY CHANGING SEASONS

Grade Level: K-P

Nature photography introduces young viewers to the changing seasons. They will discover that seasons mean different things in different places and how the seasons affect or limit human activity. Consultant: Barbara Wehr, Ph.D., the Laboratory Schools, University of Chicago.

SKU: 3692-DVD or 3692-VHS

Length: 14 minutes

Copyright: 1981

OCEANOGRAPHY

OCEAN DYNAMICS: THE WORK OF THE SEA

Grade Level: H

In this introduction to the work of water, oceans are seen as creators of weather, movers of sand and soil inland and out to sea, and sites of diverse under water weather systems. Consultant: Dr. Robert E. Boyer, Dean, College of Natural Sciences, University of Texas, Austin. In cooperation with the American Geological Institute, William H. Matthews III, Director of Education.

SKU: 3698-DVD or 3698-VHS

Length: 14 minutes

Copyright: 1981

THE BEACH: A RIVER OF SAND

Grade Level: I-J-H-C

An analysis of currents produced by waves proves that most of the net movement of sand is usually along the shore. The program demonstrates that the beach is thus a river of sand which exists between land and breaking waves. Produced in collaboration with the American Geological Institute, John S. Shelton, Ph.D.; Chief Advisor.

SKU: 2369-DVD or 2369-VHS

Length: 21 minutes

Copyright: 1966

ASTRONOMY CONTROVERSY OVER THE MOON

Grade Level: I-J-H-C

This program presents "controversy" concerning the geological makeup of the moon—specifically the origin of large lunar craters. Two eminent scientists interpret available data. Produced in collaboration with the American Geological Institute; Jack Green, Ph.D.; California State University; Eugene M. Shoemaker, Ph.D.; California Institute of Technology.

SKU: 3037-DVD or 3037-VHS

Length: 16 minutes

Copyright: 1971

MATTER

EXPLAINING MATTER: CHEMICAL CHANGE (2ND EDITION)

Grade Level: I-J

Computer-generated graphics and animation provide a basis for understanding how molecules build up and break down in the process of chemical change. This humorous, energetic film explains the inner structure of the atom, and shows viewers how the ability to predict chemical change allows for the creation of new substances. Consultants: Robert Deem, Director of Science and Health Education, Elgin, Illinois; Theodore A. Ansbacher, Director of Education, Museum of Science and Industry, Chicago.

SKU: 3725-DVD or 3725-VHS

Length: 13 minutes

Copyright: 1967

MECHANICS

FUNDAMENTALS OF BOUNDARY LAYERS

Grade Level: H-C

This program demonstrates the basic aspects of viscous incompressible boundary layers: what causes them, how they grow, and the differences in behavior of laminar and turbulent layers. (B/W) Produced by NCFMF/EDC. Film Principal: Fredrick H. Abernathy, Harvard University.

SKU: 21623-DVD or 21623-VHS

Length: 24 minutes

Copyright: 1968

FLOW VISUALIZATION

Grade Level: H-C

This study demonstrates the use of flow visualization to improve understanding of complex flows, using hydrogen bubble and dye injection techniques in flows involving boundary layer separation and transition, vortex generation, and turbulence. (B/W) Produced by NCFMF/EDC. Film Principal: Stephen J. Kline, Stanford University.

SKU: 21607-DVD or 21607-VHS

Length: 31 minutes

Copyright: 1966

TURBULENCE

Grade Level: C

This program illustrates many of the important aspects of turbulence: effect of Reynolds number on inception, increased pressure drop in pipe flow, turbulent transport of momentum and scalar properties, and others. Produced by NCFMF/EDC. Film Principal: Robert W. Stewart, University of British Columbia.

SKU: 21626-DVD or 21626-VHS

Length: 29 minutes

Copyright: 1966

ENERGY

FIBER OPTICS

Grade Level: H-C

This video captures the wonder of how fiber optics work.

SKU: 5067-DVD or 5067-VHS

Length: 16 minutes

Copyright: 1992

MAGNETS: THE DRAGON'S SECRET

Grade Level: K-P

A knight in armor learns a lesson from a dragon: Never underestimate the power of magnetic attraction. Young viewers discover the principles of magnetism and the various uses for magnets. Consultant: Sue Miller Brandon, Science Coordinator, Jefferson County Schools, Colorado.

SKU: 3694-DVD or 3694-VHS

Length: 15 minutes

Copyright: 1981

MATHEMATICS

HOW FRACTIONS WORK

Grade Level: P-I

After school a group of kids go to hang out at the Fractions Cafe—a unique place where the customers order their meals using fractions, the chef cooks his recipes with fractions, and all the food must be cut into equal sized pieces!

SKU: 4898-DVD OR 4898-VHS

Length: 14 minutes

Copyright: 1991

HOW DECIMALS WORK

Grade Level: P-I

This program explains what decimals are and how they work. Viewers learn how tenths, hundredths, and thousandths are expressed by decimals.

SKU: 4899-DVD OR 4899-VHS

Length: 15 minutes

WORLD HISTORY

CAVE DWELLERS OF THE OLD STONE AGE

Grade Level: I-J-H

The life of Neanderthal and Cro-Magnon cave dwellers is recreated from artifacts, skeletons, cave paintings, and scenes reconstructed in Southwestern France. Collaborators: Hallam L. Movius, Jr., Ph.D., Harvard University; A. Leroi-Gourhan, Ph.D., the Sorbonne, Paris.

SKU: 1770-DVD or 1770-VHS
Length: 18 minutes
Copyright: 1960

ARCHAEOLOGICAL DATING: RETRACING TIME

Grade Level: H

Ancient ruins are messages from the past. This program explores the techniques that archaeologists use to date their finds. Collaborator: Cynthia Irwin-Williams, Ph.D., Eastern New Mexico University.

SKU: 3480-DVD or 3480-VHS
Length: 18 minutes
Copyright: 1976

JULIUS CAESAR: THE RISE OF THE ROMAN EMPIRE

Grade Level: I-J-H

This program explores Caesar's role in history: his conquests of Gaul, his reforms, and his spreading of Roman commerce and culture. Collaborator: John Eadie, Ph.D., University of Michigan.

SKU: 2182-DVD or 2182-VHS
Length: 22 minutes
Copyright: 1964

THE MEDIEVAL KNIGHTS

Grade Level: I-J-H

Photographed in several French castles, this program describes the rise of the social class of knights in the 12th and 13th centuries. Collaborator: Sidney Painter, Ph.D., Johns Hopkins University.

SKU: 951-DVD or 951-VHS
Length: 22 minutes
Copyright: 1956

THE MEDIEVAL CRUSADES

Grade Level: I-J-H

In this program we follow one noble family and their manor during the First Crusade, and review the most important later Crusades. Collaborator: Kenneth M. Setton, Ph.D., University of Pennsylvania.

SKU: 938-DVD or 938-VHS
Length: 27 minutes

CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS: HIS VOYAGES AND HIS LEGACY

Grade Level: I-J-H

In pursuit of glory for both himself and for Spain, Columbus set sail for the Indies on a western sea route of exploration. This program examines both the man and his discoveries.

SKU: 4847-DVD or 4847-VHS
Length: 14 minutes
Copyright: 1991

EUROPE EXPLORES THE AMERICAS: NORTHERN VOYAGES AND SETTLEMENTS

Grade Level: I-J-H

By 1750, Spain, France, and England would claim dominion over the entire continent of North America. This program contrasts these countries' settlements and shows how each responded to the Native Americans.

SKU: 4848-DVD or 4848-VHS
Length: 15 minutes
Copyright: 1991

EUROPE EXPLORES THE AMERICAS: SOUTHERN VOYAGES AND SETTLEMENTS

Grade Level: I-J-H

This program examines how the Spanish dominated the European exploration and settlement of Central and Southern America.

SKU: 4849-DVD or 4849-VHS
Length: 16 minutes
Copyright: 1991

THE AGE OF EXPLORATION: HOW DID IT CHANGE THE WORLD?

Grade Level: H-C

On October 12, 1492, Christopher Columbus set foot in the Bahamas—and the age of exploration was born. This program examines the exchange of ideas, materials, and foods that took place between the Europeans and the Native Americans.

SKU: 4850-DVD or 4850-VHS

Length: 16 minutes

SETTLING THE GREAT PLAINS

Grade Level: I-J-H

Located between the well-populated east and an increasingly popular west, the Great Plains was a strangely flat, dry region with extreme temperatures, nearly unplowable lands, and often unfriendly Indians. It was a place where early 19th-century resettlers were willing to pass through on their way to California and Utah, but not willing to live. But, as this expansive program illustrates, the building of the transcontinental railroad and Congress's passing of the Homestead Act soon made the Great Plains more attractive for resettlers looking to farm or ranch. This video relates how hard life was not only for these newcomers but also for the displaced Indian natives.

SKU: 4872-DVD or 4872-VHS

Length: 16 minutes

SLAVERY IN THE AMERICAS

Grade Level: J-H

The enslaving, buying, and selling of Black people was—unfortunately—a flourishing part of the 18th-and 19th-century world economy. This incisive video looks at the slave trade, identifying its three major partners: the native Africans who hunted down and sold people from rival tribes, the Europeans—Portuguese, Dutch, French, and English—who transported millions of these slaves across the ocean, and the people in the Americas who bought them, worked them, and kept them in shackles. Produced by the FWU, Germany.

WHY SAY NO TO DRUGS?

Grade Level: I-J

This film's three dramatizations show young people resisting the peer pressure to use drugs. Knowing that tobacco smoke contains more than 200 deadly chemicals, Paul says NO to Jill's offer of cigarettes. At a party, Carol surprises her friends by saying NO to beer, which can impair the brain's ability to function. Ignoring his friends' taunts, Mike keeps saying NO to marijuana, a mind-altering drug containing harmful THC. This invaluable film gives students the information and inspiration that will help them say NO to ruining their lives.
